New Premax Scissors!

Wooly thread is now carrying Premax scissors in both a straight and curved tip. These are my favorites! I find the scissor action is super smooth. The low profile, pointy tips are perfect for getting into fine and fiddly areas. I also find they're great for ripping out stitching. Why not treat yourself?!

In case you missed it in the last newsletter - Wooly Thread is now carrying a wide variety of John James needles. Not sure what needle you need for your project? No worries - check out the descriptions in each of the needle offerings on the WT website.

John James Needles

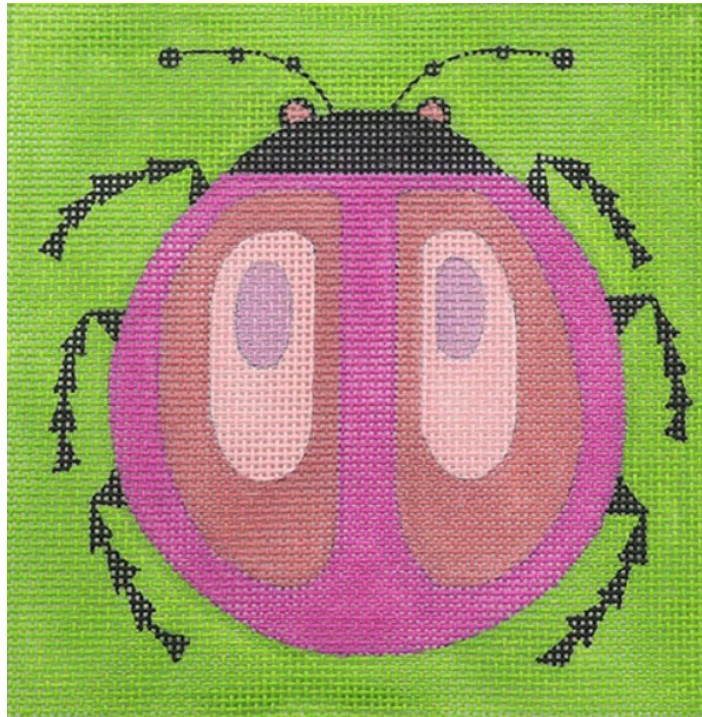

Thanks for your patience with shipping as I was traveling over these past 2 weeks. I took a trip to St. Paul, Minnesota last week for my day job. And this week I'm in Connecticut with family for the holiday week. I find it great to get away from the day to day and enjoy a change in scenery.

I'm busy writing stitch guides at the moment. The first is for a ribbon class I'm teaching at Two's Company in Rock Hill, SC at the end of the month. There is still one seat available Stitch Vibes

Class - Ribbon Peonies with Deb Bryan - would love for you to join! And more to come shortly on other classes I'll be teaching and kits I'll be offering later this year. As a teaser, I plan to offer a gold work class on the cute little Zecca pink ladybug shown below.

Wishing you a great Easter weekend. Hope you spend time doing all the things that bring you joy with those who fill you up. Until next time - all the best, Deb.
